High tides and green grass: an update and some odds and ends

Goodbye August, hello September!

A light and breezy skirt or shorts covering your lower body. Your arms and torso wrapped in a warm coat. That is September, the month that never fails to surprise!

Make it a September to remember

In September

- ... it is time for cosy camp fires in the evenings, perfect moments to tell each other stories
- ... it is lovely to take walks and enjoy nature in all its colourful splendour
- ... you can take beautiful photos in the golden autumn light
- ... you can hunt for wild mushrooms, acorns, chestnuts and other nuts with your children

Our eldest daughter Judith's favourite shop!

In Leeuwarden's best shopping street, the Sint JACOBsstraat – where else? – you can find a wonderful shop: ByOni, the fashion store of top Frisian designer Moniek Miedema. Moniek Miedema creates unique, exclusive, durable and amazingly comfortable designs. Whether for work, going out to dinner or reading a book on the sofa, you will look stylish and feminine. Isn't that wonderful?! Moniek's shop is located at number 2-4. Now we are talking about clothes, we are curious about your ideal camping outfit. Do you opt for comfort or simply wear your everyday outfit? Send us a photo!

Hans's tip (and who doesn't know Hans...)

Hans Laseur, one of our regular campers and fond of Friesland, has a splendid tourist tip: Do 'De 8 van Grou! A bike route covering 35 or 45 kilometres. The bike route takes you round the Alde Feanen National Park. You will encounter at least eight ferries on route. The captains, who are all volunteers, will gladly ferry you to the other side! You can get more information about this route and the ferry schedules from the Grou Tourist Office (VVV) or Earnewâld Tourist Office. It is well worth your while!

Must Go!

If you open your heart to Kristian, he will open your eyes tions. This year's play is 'It Foarfal'. The performance is about the gripping story of 15-year-old Kristian who has Asperger syndrome (a form of autism). The boy knows all prime numbers up to 7057 by heart, but is clueless when it comes to jokes and ambiguous comments. 'It Foarfal' is a comic drama and thriller combined.

There is a 'charming' atmosphere in the garden of the local notary in Jorwert. Expectations are also running high; open-air plays are a well-known phenomenon in Friesland. The annual 'Iepenloftspul' - as it is known in Frisian - in Jorwert is one of the most popular and perhaps oldest (since 1954) open-air performances in Friesland and you are guaranteed high quality produc-

Various performances are planned from 2 to 30 September. You can order tickets for this not-to-be-missed open-air performance via the website iepenloftspuljorwert.nl or by calling 31 (0)6 31 408 946 between 7 pm and 8 pm.

'De Stormruiter', the 2018 show piece!

Next year it will be one big party all over Friesland. We are the Capital of Culture 2018 (LF2018) and the area will be bustling with activities. Every month we will be putting an activity in the spotlight. In September 2018 it is the turn of 'De Stormruiter' (The Storm Rider).

This play is a unique performance with 100 Frisian horses and with singers and actors from Friesland and beyond. It tells the story of our eternal battle with the water and the exceptional history of the Friesian horse breed. Staging and direction are in the hands of Jos Thie, known for legendary theatre shows on location, such as 'ABE', 'Peer Gynt', 'Orfeo', 'Kening Lear' and 'Faderpaard' and for his unforgettable collaboration with Jochem Myjer and DJ Armin van Buuren. Thie has adapted the German literary classic, 'Der Schimmelreiter' specially for LF2018. It promises to be quite something!
